St. Catherine. The many friends and patrons of St. Catherine Academy who have been in the habit of attending the commencement exercises of that institution were again disappointed this year, as the new hall is not yet enough completed to admit of its use.

No Secret About It. It is no secret, that for Cuts, Burns, Ulcers, River, Sore, Sore Eyes, Hoils, etc., nothing is so effective as Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

Railroads Yield. Chairman McChord, of the State Railroad Commission, yesterday received a communication from the companies agreeing to the reduction of freight rates on grass seed and hemp of four cents on each 100 pounds from Paris to Cincinnati and other points.

His Mist Spent. Harrodsburg appears to be having a varied experience over the town's new law prohibiting spitting on the sidewalk walls and the new act has been the cause of several amusing incidents.

Indian Relic Found. Our Valley Hill correspondent sends the following: "While plowing in a field near home one day recently the plow share revealed an Indian relic which I saw here."

Seventy Seven. Put Up in Marion County Last Fall.

Ayer's Hair Vigor. To be sure, you are growing old. But why let everybody see it in your gray hair? Keep your hair dark and rich and postpone age. If you will.

CORN ROOTS.

With Special Reference to Later and Level Planting.
By A. M. TAYLOR, Kansas experiment station.
The root samples show the natural growth of plant roots under ordinary field conditions, no artificial preparation of the soil being required previous to the taking of the samples. Corn roots deeper and fewer than a greater volume of soil than Kaffir corn or sorghum.
Cultivation should not be so deep as to break the large lateral roots of corn.

ROOTS OF CORN AT MATURITY.

(Planted in later furrows.)
which usually lie at a depth of about four inches, midway between the rows. The root system of corn planted in later furrows develops at a uniform depth, and the surface roots lie uniformly deeper in the soil than do the roots of the level planted corn.
Lateral roots may be cultivated close to the hill and three to four inches deep at the last cultivation without injuring the roots.
Level planted corn may not be cultivated so close to the hill at the last cultivation as later corn, because with the level planted corn the roots are nearly to the surface several inches from the hill and are readily destroyed by close cultivation.
In a hot, dry climate rather deep cultivation of corn is desirable, especially

CORN ROOTS AT MATURITY.

(Planted with check row, level planter.) as the season advances. A thin soil mulch will not conserve so much moisture as a relatively thick mulch.
The practice of laying by corn early in the season requires the turning of a deep soil mulch at the last cultivation in order to conserve the soil moisture and keep the ground from drying out.

A Novel Scheme.
One of the most uniformly successful cabbage producers that we ever knew, who got rich and built himself a magnificent farm home from the proceeds of his cabbage patch, used a brass mulch such as we feed to cows for milk in setting out his cabbage plants, says an exchange.
The mulch was made with water so much to that it would pour out of a pot or could be dipped up in a cup. This mixture of nothing but water and water was applied in the small hole made for setting the cabbage plant. About a teaspoonful was poured into each hole around the root of the plant when setting out, and we never saw cabbage start off better and grow faster. It was claimed also that this brain mixture kept the root maggot away.

Budding Cherry Trees.
The sour cherry does not make a good stock for the sweet cherry because it sprouts very badly, and the union is not good. The wood of the sweet type grows much the faster. Seedlings of the common sweet cherry, which is known as the Mazzard, are the proper stocks on which to bud the sweet varieties. The stocks should be of a lead pencil or a little larger. This will usually be the first year, and will be the second year after planting the seeds. The budding is done in July or August, using the heads of the eyes the growth of the stocks. H. E. Van Deiman in Rural New Yorker.

SHOCKING WHEAT.

A Plan For Setting Up a Shock Most Satisfactorily.

Most people are probably familiar in a general way with the principles and methods used in wheat shocking. Yet there are details the conformation to or neglect of which makes all the difference between a first class job and a poor one. I wish to show here some of the details which make for convenience and excellence in the work, says a Rural New Yorker writer.

I find the following plan of setting up a shock most satisfactory. Set down four bundles in a row and follow with one in the middle on each side. Now place a bundle in each of the four vacant places and put on two caps. For caps select bundles with long straw above the bands. They will cover the shock better and will not fall off so easily. Place the heads of the shocks in the direction from which the strongest winds blow. If the heads face the caps will not be blown off so readily as they will if the butts face it.

General Suggestions.
Here are a few general suggestions: If the shock has been set up as here directed it will contain twelve bundles. Experience teaches that this is very nearly the right number. Some little variation, of course, is allowable. But if a shock is much smaller it lacks stability, and the same is true if the shock is much larger, especially if the wheat is dead ripe. When the wheat is dead ripe the heads stand out, and, especially in a large shock, the bundles are liable to fall down. If the heads stand out it is a good plan to lug the shock tightly before capping. In a large shock slightly grown wheat is apt to mold. When starting a shock if convenient start it in the middle of the bunch of bundles. This saves the time and labor involved in carrying bundles around the shock.

COTTON PICKING.

The ordinary warehouse charges 10 cents a bale for weighing cotton and 10 cents for drays. This is an excessive tax.

Reduction of cotton rates 25 to 50 cents per bale for warehouse payments seems a small thing to the individual farmer, but it will cost the railroads a half million.

The bonded warehouse is necessary to the success of the slow marketing movement for which every farmer is ready to vote.
The man who lives and boards at home, with cotton as surplus crop, can grow it at 4 cents and live well.
Cotton farmers can better afford to own stock in cotton mills than any other class of citizens. The mill furnishes an assured market for cotton, meats, fruits and vegetables. Textile Farm and Ranch.

THE GARDEN KEYBOARD

Give the cucumber plenty of water and plant a few more hills. As cucumbers become of sufficient size tie them up in order to blanch them. More seed may also be sown. The old fashioned flower gardens were largely made up of annuals. Yet for the larger part of the old time favorites are annuals. Sweet peas, pansies, yuccas, cosmos, nasturtiums, these have a hold on people which they will never lose.
Cobea acardensis is an excellent quick growing annual vine for a screen.

At breakfast.
"I understand," said the landlady as he was serving the lunch, "that the widow and widower who have been living in the boarding house across the way have recently married." "Sort of second hand affair," remarked the fat boarder as he helped himself to another dish of prunes—Miss Winkles' Sentinel.

Strangled on Mud.

Our very reliable and trustworthy correspondent at Stithon tells in his letter this week the most remarkable fish story that has yet come under our notice. He says that last week the heavy rains muddled the Rolling Fork to such an extent that when the water came into Salt river it was as thick as a loblolly. It had a remarkable effect upon the fish. They seemed to be strangled from the mud and came to the banks and poked their heads out in order to breathe. People caught hundreds of them from the bank with their hands, grabbing them in their gills. One buffalo was caught that weighed twenty seven pounds and many ten and twelve pound fish were taken. This same thing occurred once before in Salt river.—Etown News.

Quality vs. Quantity.

Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system, overcomes and cures Indigestion, dyspepsia, belching, sour stomach, etc. Sold by all Druggists.

Struck by Car.

N. G. and J. W. Bowden, Confederate veterans of Morris Station, Ga., were struck by a street car on Second street, near Green, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and painfully injured. The men are brothers, the former being blind. They started to cross the street, the younger brother leading the afflicted brother, and did not notice the approach of the car coming in Second street. They were directly on the track when Motorman Bowling saw them. He quickly turned off the current, but could not avert the accident. The car was running at a very moderate speed when it struck them, however, or both men would probably have been killed.

The injured men were carried into Fowler's drug store, and were later removed to the City Hospital. Their injuries, which consisted of cuts and bruises about the face and head, were dressed, and they were taken in the ambulance to the Georgia headquarters.—Herald.

Sisters Perish.
Brandenburg, Ky.,—As a result of one of the most lamentable accidents ever known in this part of the State, the family of Dr. Grant Booth, one of the prominent men of Meade county, was practically wiped out. While bathing in the river at Creelias, fifteen miles below Brandenburg, his three daughters, Miss Hallie, aged twenty five, Miss Fanny, aged twenty, and Miss Annie Belle, were drowned.

The death of two of the young women were caused by their heroism and sisterly love. All three had gone into the Ohio, as was their custom for the afternoon plunge, and Miss Annie Belle, the youngest, was the only one of the trio who was not an expert swimmer. They had been enjoying themselves in the water for probably an hour, when Miss Annie Belle, in spite of the warnings of her older sisters, ventured out beyond her depth. She was recklessly plucky and usually one of the sisters' kept near her. Last night, however, she swam rapidly away from them, leaving them close to shore as she looked back at them as if in jest. Suddenly the young woman went down, and on coming up called for help. The older sisters instantly realized that she was exhausted, and started toward her. In a few seconds they were at her side. Had they been able to control her all would have been saved, but in her frenzy of fear she threw her own arms about the arms of her sisters, preventing them from swimming, and all three perished.

The young woman sank only about twenty yards from the bank, and although scores of men began a search for the bodies as soon as the alarm was given, it was not till this morning that two of them—those of Miss Hallie and Miss Fanny—were found far out in the stream where they had been carried by the swift current. The body of Miss Annie Belle has not been recovered, though the river was dragged all night for a mile below the scene of the accident.

"The Booth girls," as they were affectionately known, were among the most estimable young women in Meade county. Brilliantly educated and girls of the "home" type, they were beloved by all who knew them for their beautiful traits and for their goodness and purity. Miss Hallie was probably the most popular teacher in the county.

Ugly Shooting Scrape.
An ugly shooting scrape occurred in the little town of Chaplin on last Friday evening in which Mr. Mose Smithers received a very painful, but not necessarily a fatal wound from a shot gun in the hands of W. J.
Wright. Smithers is the proprietor of the Chaplin Hotel, is a well known in that neighborhood. Wright runs a huckster wagon and lives with his wife in Chaplin. Smithers is a widower.
For some time, it seems, Wright had suspected that an undue intimacy existed between his wife and Smithers and on last Friday he precipitated a race to learn if his suspicions were correct. He started out as usual on his regular rounds with his huckster wagon, but returned home unexpectedly and in a round about way. Wright found Smithers at the Wright home and taking a double barrel shot gun proceeded to give the visitor a warm reception. The first shot fired at Smithers missed, but the contents of the second barrel tore its way through his shoulder tearing the muscle and part of the bone inflicting a very ugly wound. Wright went to Bardonia and surrendered himself to the authorities and gave bond. The affair occurred in Nelson county.

TOPICS.

Boulevard-Cunningham
The marriage of Miss Esther Boulevard to Mr. Garland B.
Cunningham took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents on Walnut street.
The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Harrison Williams of the Baptist church and only the members of the two families were present. The rooms were prettily decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, ferns formed the background in the bow-window before which the minister stood and pronounced the ceremony, during which Miss Bettie Irvine played the wedding march.

The bride received many handsome presents of cut glass and silverware from her friends and relatives.

The bride wore a blue voile gown with hat to match and carried a bouquet of Brill roses.
Immediately after the ceremony they drove to Lebanon accompanied by Mr. and Mrs.
H. B. McElroy and took the train for Oklahoma City where they will remain a few weeks before returning home.

The bride is one of the town's most popular girls, being of an amiable disposition that endeared her to a large circle of friends.
The groom is one of the successful merchants of town, being associated with his father in the dry goods business under the firm name of Cunningham & Duncan. The best wishes of a host of friends attend this young couple in which the NEWS-LEADER joins most heartily.

A Sad Death.
One of the saddest deaths to occur in the county for years was that of Miss Graham Van-Arsdale at 4 o'clock on Wednesday morning at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Van-Arsdale in the Pleasant Grove neighborhood. This bright and beautiful young life was taken with almost shocking suddenness or after an illness of only a few days of typhoid fever. The news of her death was the first announcement that the majority of the friends of Miss VanArsdale had of her serious illness and the shock to them was much greater on that account. The deceased was one of the county's brightest and prettiest young girls and her cheerful disposition and many attributes of person and character had made her a general favorite with both old and young. Her taking away will cause a vacancy in the hearts and affections of not only the stricken family but a large circle of friends as well, which can never be filled. She will be greatly missed in church and social circles where her happy presence so often made itself felt. The deepest sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved parents and brothers and sisters in this their second great loss by death within a few weeks.

The funeral will take place this (Thursday) afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Pleasant Grove Presbyterian church.
